

James -

Welcome to Olin (almost). If it wasn't obvious, I am your advisor.

Since it is unlikely we'll meet before the fall, I wanted to write to briefly introduce myself.

You can find out a lot about my academic life on my web page:

<http://faculty.olin.edu/~mchang>

and you learned a little about me during candidates weekend.

The short story is that I am a Computer Engineer that teaches mostly 3rd year students in Computer Architecture and Digital VLSI. So, obviously, that's mostly ECE students (Electrical and Computer Engineering).

One thing that may not come across on the web site is my interest in "Green" Engineering – environmentally-aware engineering.

Enough about me, on to you. In order to get to know you a little, here is your first Olin "assignment".

By August 15, please send me an introductory email. Tell me a couple things about yourself, and please include these things:

What are your goals for Olin?

What are your thoughts about your first semester at Olin?

Any questions or concerns.

Feel free, otherwise to contact me any time.

See you in the fall!
